

ALamentable List, of certaine Hidious, Frightfull, and Prodigious Signes, which have bin seene in the Aire, Earth, and Waters, at severall times for these 18. yeares last past, to this present: that is to say, Anno. 1618. untill this instant. Anno. 1638. In Germany, and other Kingdomes and Provinces adjacent; which ought to be so many severall warnings to our Kingdome, as to the said Empire. To the tune of Aime not to high.

You who would be inform'd of sozaine newes,
Attend to this which presently inueues,
And you shall heare such marbels here exprest,
In eightene yeares last past made manifest.

In Germany that famous Empire faire,
Strange sights were seene 'tith water earth & aire,
Which from good testimonies hither brought,
That we may know 'tith wonders God hath wrought

In Anno sirteene hundred and eightene,
A blazing Starre was o're Bohemia seene,
Which for the space of seven and twenty dayes,
Within the sky most fearefully did blaze.

And in Hungaria (as 'tis understood,)
Water was Metamorphos'd into blood.
In Brunswick-land (within an evening saire,)
Were seene two armies fighting in the aire.

Three Raine-bowes and three Suns (all in one day)
Were at Vienna seene in Austria:
And other Lints in Austria (nam'd before,)
A noise like Ordnance in the aire did roare.

At Darmstedt blood did drop from leaues of trees,
And what at Turin hapt with this agrees,
Where chaires, stoles, wals, and other things did
An oyle resembling blood by fust conceite. (sweat,

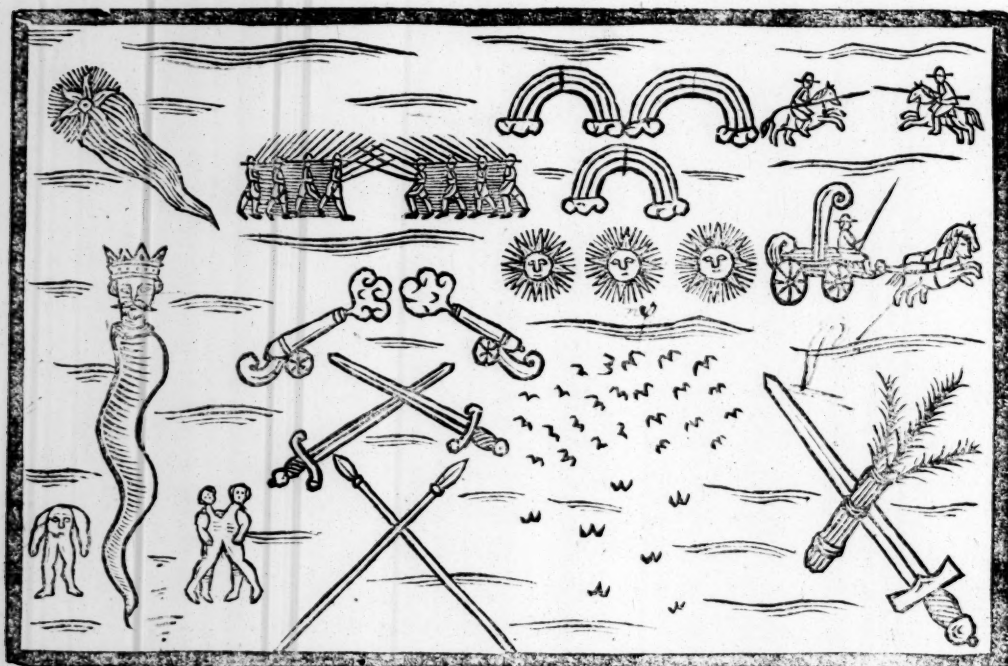

'tith Dukedome of Wirtemberg it rained gore,
(As it hath bin in England heretofore.)
Over Bohemia fiery beames did oppose
The Sun, and crackt like Rockets in our shoes.

A dreadfull tempest haild at Ratisbone,
Strange fruit nere Frankendal plike ne're known.
Crows in Silesia fought a mortall battle,
Lightning and thunder in the sky did rattle.

The Sun in monstrous forme 'tith aire was shone
With a strange Raine-bow over Hamborow towne:
Great bands with horse-men in aray did stand,
With Ordnance in the aire o're Pomerland.

Nere Strassburg was brought forth a monstrous
Such as was seldom seene upon ' earth. (birth)
A sword, and rod within the heavens were,
At Saxon in (Silesia) seene to appeare.

ALamentable List, of certaine Hidious, Frightfull, and Prodigious Signes, which have bin seene in the Aire, Earth, and Waters, at severall times for these 18. yeares last past, to this present: that is to say, Anno. 1618. untill this instant. Anno. 1638. In Germany, and other Kingdomes and Provinces adjacent; which ought to be so many severall warnings to our Kingdome, as to the said Empire. To the tune of Aime not to high.

You who would be inform'd of sozaine newes,
Attend to this which presently inueues,
And you shall heare such marbels here exprest,
In eightene yeares last past made manifest.

In Germany that famous Empire faire,
Strange sights were seene 'tith water earth & aire,
Which from good testimonies hither brought,
That we may know 'tith wonders God hath wrought

In Anno sirteene hundred and eightene,
A blazing Starre was o're Bohemia seene,
Which for the space of seven and twenty dayes,
Within the sky most fearefully did blaze.

And in Hungaria (as 'tis understood,)
Water was Metamorphos'd into blood.
In Brunswick-land (within an evening saire,)
Were seene two armies fighting in the aire.

Three Raine-bowes and three Suns (all in one day)
Were at Vienna seene in Austria:
And other Lints in Austria (nam'd before,)
A noise like Ordnance in the aire did roare.

At Darmstedt blood did drop from leaues of trees,
And what at Turin hapt with this agrees,
Where chaires, stoles, wals, and other things did
An oyle resembling blood by fust conceite. (sweat,

'tith Dukedome of Wirtemberg it rained gore,
(As it hath bin in England heretofore.)
Over Bohemia fiery beames did oppose
The Sun, and crackt like Rockets in our shoes.

A dreadfull tempest haild at Ratisbone,
Strange fruit nere Frankendal plike ne're known.
Crows in Silesia fought a mortall battle,
Lightning and thunder in the sky did rattle.

The Sun in monstrous forme 'tith aire was shone
With a strange Raine-bow over Hamborow towne:
Great bands with horse-men in aray did stand,
With Ordnance in the aire o're Pomerland.

Nere Strassburg was brought forth a monstrous
Such as was seldom seene upon ' earth. (birth)
A sword, and rod within the heavens were,
At Saxon in (Silesia) seene to appeare.

The Second Part to the same Tune.

Strang fire ran through the towne of Coburg, and
 Spo hurt it did (that men could understand.)
 In Saxony water to blood did turne,
 At Magdenburg a child in armour borne.

O're Lutzen was a beautiful Virgin scene,
 A Candle, and a hand-kercheffe betweene
 Her hands she held, (in open view of all:)
 Water turn'd blood in Saxony at Hail.

Blond issued from a loafe of Bread, (firme dry,)
 At Frowenstein a Towne in Saxony:
 A monster borne at Kempton in Swabland,
 And likewise blood did spring out of a Pond.

In Brandenburg (at Berlin) heaven sent
 Both blood, and byrns one, from the firmament:
 A fiery Scepter was t' th' aire beheld,
 Great flocks of Birds fought, & each other killd.

Blond perfect from a water Conduit ran,
 A Woyme was found t' th' full shape of a man.
 At Weimer water did to blood convert, (heart.
 These wonderous signes may mo' be a Christian

At Vienna a Woman strange appear'd,
 (Whereat some of the people were affear'd:)
 And at St. Stephens Church, the Bells did ring
 Without the helpe of man. (A wonderous thing.

Now what events these prodigies have wrought,
 (And what effects have since to passe bin brought,
 England (and all the Christian world) hath had,
 Sufficient notes and motives to be sad.

Intestine warre, contagious pestilence,
 And other miseries deduc'd from thence;
 As pinching Famine (which hath caus'd) of late,
 A desolation of that fertile State.

Such wonderous signes, & tokens Heaven sent,
 That faire Jerusalem might in time repent:
 Prodigious sights, and fearefull blazing starres,
 As learn'd Iosephus speaks in's Jewish warres.

But all these tokens set bed to no end,
 For the rebellious Jewes did still offend;
 And sighted these Celestiall warnings still:
 The Tolls of Gods wrath their sins did fill.

Which caus'd the utter ruin
 The Romans them did qu
 And Captive led captivity
 Unto their enemies becam

Then so faire Germany he
 That thee his holy meant
 And left her p'poc, desent
 Of Cluttony and (stoint)

Desention hath with host
 Ambition with losse of L
 Cluttony and drunkenne
 With raging hunger, as

Let England then take
 Although our Lord (in r
 Seeing our sins with C
 'Tis fit that by her war

Let's leave security an
 And learne to feare our
 For we may thinke ou
 But that our share of

One fire is kindling to
 And Schoollers (often
 God grant us grace th
 And (with humiltey

Although we live in,
 And spend our (p'ect
 Yet Heaven's not l
 By the successe of th

Wherein althoug
 (As in p'ecedent ti
 Yet still the Pestil
 Hath almost all the

Th's his Paterna
 And yet ingratulu
 Each one seeks
 But few regard t

I for my part do
 That every one
 And that in tim
 (With gratiti